November 30, 2011: The Crucible

Written by Arthur Miller Directed by Janet Miller

Arthur Miller's timeless tragedy of a young girl whose accusations against innocent townspeople hold an entire community hostage. Inspired by the McCarthy hearings and based on the Salem witch trials of 1692, this exciting drama about the Puritan purge of witchcraft in old Salem is both a gripping historical play and a timely parable of our contemporary society.

February 16, 2012: MacHomer

Adapted from William Shakespeare's Macbeth and
The Simpsons created by Matt Groening

Created & Performed by Rick Miller

His First Southern California Appearance in 6 years!

Imagine Shakespeare's Macbeth, a bloody tale of greed, envy, murder and retribution interpreted by none other than television's supreme anti-heroes of irreverence The Simpsons.

That is exactly what Rick Miller does in his incredible work, MacHomer. In this awe inspiring, energetic, incredibly hilarious performance, picture Homer Simpson as the Scottish traitor, Marge as Lady Macbeth, Mr. Burns as the doomed King Duncan and Moe the Bartender as Witch #2. MacHomer has amazed audiences of all ages, backgrounds and languages. A hilarious one-man show you have to see to believe!
